An erotica e-book

Leigh lives in Santa Monica, experiencing the summer of el Niño without air conditioning. Divorced from a sexually selfish ingrate, she's intrigued by Jared, the hunky neighbor who just moved in across the street. Watching him, admiring his body, she feels a stab of desire that she hasn't felt in years.

They come together in a shower of cold water, and he teases and her and takes her so slowly she thinks she'll die from needing him. There isn't anything he doesn't do right for her. It all feels so good, Leigh has to keep her thoughts from wandering down dangerous terrain—they're perfect lovers, but she knows that doesn't mean she should start thinking commitment, particularly since Jared has made it clear that he's a man on the move.

Heat Wave is a well written, well paced erotic story that will have you reading as fast as you can. Ms. Bradley not only does an excellent job relating the physical sensations that Leigh experiences, but allows the reader a look into her heart.
