Ex-army ranger, Nolan Garrett has been to the edge - to the edge of death in the Middle East and to the edge of sobriety after returning home. The last thing he wanted to do was baby-sit a poor little rich girl.

Then he met Jillian Kincaid.

Sure, Jillian is a billionaire's daughter. But she's also a former Olympic gymnast and currently anchors the evening news for a Palm Beach television station. And the last thing she wants is another bodyguard. Despite the death threats.

Then she met Garrett.

Who wanted Jillian dead? Would Garrett be able to stop him?

Set in Southern Florida, author Cindy Gerard turns up the heat when Jillian and Garrett are together. Although at first the pairing seems a bit forced, they end up a perfect match.

Also perfect is Ms. Gerard's handling of the plot. She's written a suspenseful page-turner that keeps you engrossed until the last page.

Winner of the coveted Romance Writers of America Rita Award in 2002, Cindy Gerard has written nearly thirty category romances. To The Edge is the first in her romantic suspense series, The Bodyguards, for St. Martins Paperbacks.
