Mike Baldwin has it all, a successful career, a promising law practice and looks that should be against the law. Dara Williams, a gorgeous, brilliant, ambitious law student has no time for men or relationships. So what happens when the man who has it all meets the woman that has it all? Passion so intense, try as they may, neither are able to deny it.

There's nothing troubling about this novel by Ann Christopher. It has everything, it's fast paced, emotional and hot as fire! I couldn't stop reading! I needed to know what happened, not only to the hero and heroine but also to the supporting characters as well!

For all you writers out there, if you need to learn how to set realistic sexual tension, READ and STUDY this book! It's a romance, so you know there's a good possibility the hero and heroine are gonna get it on, but the author makes you wait for it! And when she finally gives it to you! WHEW! Might make your head blow off!
